For over four-hundred years, The Drunk Shakespeare Society has been meeting and drinking..and drinking, and doing DRUNK SHAKESPEARE. A self- proclaimed "drinking club" with a Shakespeare problem, the membership invites audiences to join them for a meeting in their society lounge.

One actor has at least 5 shots of whiskey and then attempts to perform in a Shakespearean play.

ANYTHING COULD HAPPEN.

There is a hidden library on the 4th Floor of a building on 43rd and 8th. With over 9,000 books, The Drunk Shakespeare Society meets every night to drink... and perhaps do a little Shakespeare.

A mysterious bartender serves cocktails through a 10-foot high bookcase made entirely of black books.

100 prized novels are forever buried in an amber fluid in front of a royal throne.

Other easter eggs are hidden throughout the room...
